

Feminism's language character in The Help Movie

This study is analyzing Feminism's language character of The Help Movie, about how race and gender discrimination reflected by using feminist approach. The objective of the study is to analyze the movie based on its structural elements and analyze the movie based on feminist approach. Tate Taylor's The Help movie is The object of the study, which was released on 2011 in the United Stated. The data source are literary data. Those are the primary data is taken from the movie itself and the secondary data sources are other in formations that are relevant to the subject matter. The method of the data collection is library research. The techniques of data analysis is descriptive analysis.